She says she has relatives near London, this State, and where she has an interest in an estate. She also names persons at Munich, Indiana, with whom she is acquainted. She has been for some time at Winchester, Virginia, from which place she came to Zanesville, being taken from the train there on the 10th of last September, in a deranged condition. She has had intervals, when she talks about herself quite rationally. There is a story surrounding the matter, and the Superintendent of the Infirmary is of the opinion that the lady, who is about 60 years old, has been got out of the way so that some one could get possession of her property.

OSBORNE is now receiving his spring stock of Groceries, fresh and fine—can please you in quality and price.

EASTER SUNDAY.—In the morning the Churches were the center of attraction, although the weather was somewhat sultry and threatening; but, in spite of this, there were a goodly number in each church, and somehow, everything went off as well as could be expected, and presented a sort of spring air, and presented a good appearance. Morning services were conducted in the P. P. Presbyterian and M. E. Churches, with appropriate and Easter sermons. At the M. E. Church, J. H. Conkle's morning sermon was the "Resurrection of the Body," and was handled with his usual good style. In the evening at 7 o'clock the Sunday School Easter celebration took place. The Church was decorated with rare flowers in great profusion about the pulpit. One of the most beautiful figures was an immense Cross of handsome and elaborately arranged flowers, resting upon the center and front of the pulpit. The exercises were participated in by the Pastor, Sunday School and congregation, under the efficient management of A. T. McKelvey, Superintendent of the School. The exercises were interspersed with recitations, songs and scripture readings. The anthems rehearsed for the occasion were sung very sweetly, and readings by the assistant, Miss Lena Kinney, and Jessie Morton, were well rendered. This very interesting service was intended to illustrate the coming of Christ. His life, his death, his resurrection, and the immortal life that comes to every soul through His resurrection.

Township Assessors.
The real estate assessors of Belmont county are called to meet at the Auditor's office on next Tuesday, April 6th, for the purpose of receiving instructions relative to appraising property for taxation for the next decade. As many of our readers have not ready access to the Revised Statutes, we give below the substance of the several Statutes, under which the assessors will soon begin this work:

Assessors shall in all cases visit the property, and obtain such facts, from the best information, as will enable them to arrive at a true valuation of the land. However, the price which any lot or parcel would bring at a forced sale or auction shall not be taken into consideration. The assessors are required to examine all the buildings, with the consent of the owners. If any assessor fail to do his duty—that is, returning property at less than its true value—he shall forfeit not less than $200 or more than $1,000.

KIDNEY-WORT is nature's remedy for kidney and liver diseases, piles and constipation.

UNIONTOWN.
MANY of our citizens have not forgotten Mr. James Rogers, once a resident of this town, and for several years the competent and trustworthy agent of the C. & P. R. Co. at Lagrange, Ohio. As a matter of interest to many persons, we would say that we received from Pittsburgh, the excellent new wedding cards "Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rogers," dated August, 1879, and further, that the wedding was consummated on the morning of the 25th inst., at 7 o'clock, at the home of the bride, in Morrisstown, O. Rev. J. G. Lytle, of Wheeling, officiating. Miss Hanna, a long-dancer, of R. S. Clark, who is known and held in great esteem throughout the county, and Miss Hazlett is in every way worthy the good fortune which has fallen to her lot in the property of a fine young wife.

Mr. Rogers has proven to be a successful business man, and now with a splendid new store in the city of Wellburg, Va., amply equipped, a good capital in money, and a pleasant home—where if he is not happy, we would be very sorry. His friends here express the wish that the lives of both may be long and happy, and prosper, and that they may live to the good old age.

THE Central Committeeman of this township has given every one a chance to be apprised of the primary meeting to be held in this town on April 6th, and it is the duty of all interested to be present. When the meetings are attended by the voters, they have an opportunity to assist in the selection of candidates, and also prevent misstatements or misapprehensions, and make the election a success for the people of the township.

MISS RITZEL and Mrs. Wayman, who have been visiting their sister, Mrs. Wayman, at the home of Dr. J. H. Close, have returned to their home at Uniontown, Va. They made a brief stop at Bellaire and Benwood, on their way home. They expressed themselves as being very much pleased with the trip, and enjoyed a pleasant visit.

Why not build the new Presbyterian Church in Uniontown, as the most central and convenient location, and thus avoid the dividing of a flourishing religious community? The turnpike road would cause a church here to be easy of access even during muddy roads, and shorten the distance for those who have no to travel such roads for quite a distance in order to reach the present location.
